

The American Institute of Architects Legal Citator

Steven G. M. Stein, Editor-in-Chief

Authoritative Guide of the AIA Documents

This invaluable, time-saving research tool is the only product that:

- keyed to standard AIA contracts by specific numbered article or paragraph
- distinguishes between various versions of the same standard contract
- uses an easy-to-understand case reference numbering system that includes the jurisdiction and date of each decision
- lists all of the contract provisions at issue in each digested case

For ease of use, the AIA Legal Citator is divided into two main sections that enable you to move swiftly from contract provisions to the cases that interpret them.

Documents-to-Case Charts

The Document-to-Case Charts are your entry point to the AIA Legal Citator. The charts are arranged chronologically by AIA document number and edition, making it easy to locate the document in question. Each chart lists the specific provisions contained in the document, along with the cases that interpret them.

Cases

Cases are listed numerically by case reference number. The case digests are provided for all cases decided since 1974 and are followed by a list of all AIA documents provisions that were impacted by each decision.
